

Roadshow ready to roll in 2010

The popular Standard Bank Rocking Future Roadshow, which helps matrics make a more informed choice concerning tertiary education, will visit over 30, 000 matrics between January and May next year, including local school, Stanmore Secondary in Phoenix.

The roadshow has two new interesting additions for 2010. First up is the '10 weeks of giveaways' project with Ster Kinekor theatres, which will see some lucky pupils walk away with prize hampers ranging from movie merchandise to PlayStation games. Secondly, is the 'Sport Achiever' award, in which all visited schools will get to vote for a local grade 11 or grade 12 sportsman, who they believe gives back to the community. The eventual winner will be selected in May and will win, for their school, an assembly with a famous South African sports star.

Tanya Vandenberg, Creative Director at Three Ring Circus, said, "It's a busy year for everyone with the World Cup happening, which is why we'll be running two teams, making sure none of the schools miss out on this great opportunity."

The Standard Bank Rocking Future Roadshow features representatives of up to 20 of the country's finest universities and colleges, helping pupils understand the enormity of study options available to them. Through face-to-face interaction with these institutions, and the informed and entertaining nature of the show itself, the message soon becomes abundantly clear that grade 12 pupils must make the right career choice, not the expected one.

The roadshow will kick off its tour in Pretoria and Cape Town on January 14, 2010, and will then make its way through Johannesburg, Port Elizabeth, Durban and Pietermaritzburg, before ending its journey in the East Rand on April 30.
