

Hunt is on for 2010's young achiever

STANDARD Bank Rocking Future Roadshow, visited local schools such as The Hill High, Diversity High and Forest High, on the lookout for talent.

The popular Roadshow which helps Matrics make a more informed choice concerning tertiary education, has launched their Young Achiever award to find South Africa's most inspiring Grade 11 or 12. The award will focus on different facets of society each year but to celebrate this year's soccer World Cup, the achiever must better their community through sport.

Tanya Vandenberg,

creative director of Three Ring Circus, the company behind the Roadshow explained,

"The Standard Bank Rocking Future Roadshow has been a success for almost a decade now by helping Matrics, but this year we wanted to reward someone who helps their community, which is why we've launched the Young Achiever award. The schools we visit will get a chance to nominate one of their pupils for the award. The only prerequisite is that the nominee is helping his or her community through sport. A nominee could do something as simple as coach soccer."

"Maybe they have set up a sports club to keep kids off the streets. Or perhaps they simply inspire those around them to be better people through their sporting accomplishments. Whatever they do, the Roadshow wants to hear their story – so they need to make sure that their school nominates them," she said

In their quest for the winner, the Standard Bank Rocking Future Roadshow will visit over 200 schools and 30 000 Matrics this year.

For more information a log onto: www.rockingfuture.co.za.

Standard Bank Rocking Future Roadshow team, John Mafohla, Pascal Lwambwa and Musa Sthapela.

